

DAWLEY BEGS TO BE KILLED

The Slayer of W. H. Davis is Overcome With Remorse.

AN ORDER TO THE RECEIVERS

Must Sell Railway Stock to Release Lumber Company Debt.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., October 20.—The condition of young John J. Dawley, of Princess Anne county, who is under arrest for the recent murder of W. H. Davis in that county, is serious, he having been badly burned in the conflagration at his father's place the same night, Dawley set fire to the barn after the shooting, and came near being cremated therein. His mind has been affected from remorse over the killing of his friend. He was reported today, however, to be improved. He is still under guard at his father's house, his condition having been such that he could not be carried to jail.

SIX BOYS STRANDED.

Six youths from New York, ranging from seventeen to twenty years of age, and all small for their ages, appeared at the Norfolk police station today for assistance. They said they had been engaged by the New York Labor Agency, of 71 Mulberry street, New York, to come to work on the Tidewater Railway here, and arrived in Norfolk via the Old Dominion Steamship Company October 15th. They were sent to Bowers Hill, four miles beyond Portsmouth, and when put to work digging for the roadbed of the Tidewater Railway found the work too much for them, and had to quit. They came to Norfolk about the youths had among them only fourteen cents with which to buy food for the day. Chief of Police Boush will return the boys to New York. They gave their names as Arthur Stanton, aged twenty; Edgar Kenny, eighteen; Joseph Domico, eighteen; Emil Chewing, eighteen; Robert Graham, eighteen, and George Wharell, seventeen.

ORDERS TO RECEIVERS.

The receivers of the Tuna Lumber Company, Theophilus Tuna and A. H. Martin, were authorized today by Judge Edmund Waddill, of the United States District Court, to pay the interest $4,377 due on the October bonds, and to sell 400 shares of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway at $50 a share for the purpose of refunding a loan of $20,000 for the release of the stock of the Wilson Wood Lumber Company, pledged for the loan.

That company owns the timber which the Tuna Company uses, and as there is a great profit in this business, the Tuna Company wishes unrestricted access to the timber.

The Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic stock has advanced recently from $10 to $50 a share, hence the reason for the order of sale.

The negro was found loaded down with stolen goods, a new suit on and two other new suits, overcoat and several articles of merchandise. He was brought before Magistrate J. F. Wingfield, who sent him to jail to await the grand jury.

TO REPRODUCE BATTLE OF CRATER

Will Be the Most Striking Feature of the Reunion.

THE CITY IS DECORATING

Ellis Arrested in West Virginia and Will Return Without Requisition.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., October 20.—Preparations for the reproduction of the battle of the Crater on the famous field and site of the great explosion, and decorating the whole city, are just at present the most active features of reunion work.

If indications are accurate, the sham battle will be a spectacle worthy of the enormous crowd for which preparations are being made, and will far surpass the exhibition at the reunion in 1902.

Virginia troops and veterans from all over the State will participate in the battle Thursday, October 27th.

A. P. Hill Camp committees are hard at work directing the manifold features of preparatory work for the big three days' celebration. There is now an especial demand for a large number of horses and equipments for the parade and the Crater fight, and some difficulty is being found in securing all the horses needed.

A big grand stand has been erected on the battlefield in a position to give a comprehensive view of the whole scene. Joseph Ellis, recently indicted here by a special grand jury on the charge of obtaining seventy-five dollars from Craddock and Jones, proprietors of the Virginia Tobacco Warehouse, by forging the name of L. F. Foster, a well-known Amelia county farmer, has been arrested in Thurmond, W. Va., and will be brought here immediately.

A telegram this afternoon from Detective Feltz, of the Baldwin Agency, to Chief of Police Ragland, announcing the arrest, states that Ellis will return without requisition. Captain Ragland will send an officer either to-night or tomorrow morning. The forgery of Foster's name was not discovered until some time after the payment of the fraudulent money order, and in the meantime Ellis had disappeared.

SOCIETY PEOPLE IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

The Unlucky Number Thirteen the Cause of Many Wrecks.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SUFFOLK, VA., October 20.—A special chartered train conveying Suffolk society people from the Norfolk Horse Show had a head-on collision early this morning with a shifting engine, about one mile from the Portsmouth station.

Nearly a score of persons, including several ladies, were more or less injured.

Both locomotives were wrecked. Car platforms were wrenched and twisted into splinters, and some of the seats were torn from their floor fastenings. People were in a few instances heaped into piles four or five high. Neither of the coaches left the track, though some of the locomotive wheels did.

Those most seriously hurt are: John A. Tom, injured internally and about the head and leg, and Wm. M. Alderson, hurt about the neck and internally.

Numbers of persons had teeth knocked out or loosened. Less than half the show visitors escaped unscathed.

The special trains had orders for a clear track between Portsmouth and Suffolk. The engineer of the shifter was under the impression that the special, due to leave Portsmouth at mid-night, had already passed. Claim Agent W. L. Standwood, of the Seaboard Air Line, who is here settling with wreck victims, said this afternoon that in his extended experience 75 per cent. of railroad wrecks are caused by locomotives in whose numbers "13" appears in some way.

The shifter in this case which caused the wreck bore the figures "125."

DEFEND GOLF CUP.

Attractive Contest Among Well-Known State Clubs.

This morning at 10 o'clock six teams, representing the Norfolk Country and Golf Club at Norfolk, The Hampton Roads Golf and Country Club of Newport News, The Lexington Country and Golf Club of Lexington, The Roanoke Golf and Country Club of Roanoke, The Hermitage Golf Club of Richmond, and The Lakeside Country Club of Richmond will compete for the championship of Virginia in a handsome silver cup known as the Virginia Cup.

The first round of the tournament was presented last year to the Virginia State Golf League, and is to be defended at least once each year by the club holding it.

Last fall The Lakeside team captured the cup at Norfolk, and, of course, will defend it stoutly to-day at Lakeside Park. The team consist of six men each, and being the strongest possible team from each club, the result is very much in doubt. Play will begin at 10 A. M. sharp and continue until the match is finished. The two rounds in the morning will be at medal play, and the two teams making the lowest aggregate number of strokes for the 18 holes will contest in the afternoon series for the championship of Virginia and the cup.

The finals will be played under the Nauman system of scoring.

The visiting teams will attend the annual banquet of the Lakeside Country Club, which takes place to-night.

PLAYER MAID PLEASURES.

Miss Davis Gives An Attractive Interpretation.

Florence Davis, the personification of the smiles and frowns, the caprices, the whimsies, and all the rest that goes to make up a young woman, in her presentation of the charming four-act romantic comedy, "The Player Maid," at the Academy last night, secured a larger audience than that which greeted her. Miss Davis as "Eleanor Holman," the favorite actress of Drury Lane at the time of Garrick, and Foot, charmed her audience, and the play, which is one abounding in amusing situations, called forth peal after peal of laughter. In the first act, the audience is given a peep behind the scenes of the famous London play house, and shown how refreshingly different a Romeo and Juliette can be in the green room from what they are before the footlights. This first act, with its stage mechanism, was put on with much more than the usual care and when The Player Maid was presented here.

Mr. Elliott Dexter, as the Earl of Roxbury, was not wanting in the part of a most ardent lover, and Miss Louise Randolph, who is quite pretty and wore handsome and becoming gowns, was very satisfactory, as Kitty, an actress. Mr. John E. Price, Jr., as the leading actor of Drury Lane, could have made more out of the part than he did. The play is well staged and the costumes are handsome and attractive.

Mr. Ryan Departs.

Daniel Ryan, whose excellent work in the classic and romantic dramas has delighted Richmonders all the week, will close his engagement at the Bijou with to-day's matinee and night performances. For the Broad Street house next week Manager Wells has secured "The Black Crook," the famous spectacle. The show will bring a huge company here with a brand new scenic equipment and handsome costumes.

Harry Beresford and Deshon.

Harry Beresford will return to Richmond on Tuesday night, bringing with him the best of his several quaint comedies, "The Woman Hater." Frank Deshon, who has been here some weeks ago in "The Office Boy," will play a return engagement next week.

Piano and Song Recital.

The approach of the Powell-Booker piano and song recital at the Academy is causing the liveliest interest among music people. For the first time these two Richmond artists will be seen in a professional concert in their home city. Miss Booker's exquisite voice and her great art in using it have attracted the attention of critics in England and on the continent. Returning after fairly winning a fine reputation as an artist, her home-coming will be signalized by this recital.

Mr. Powell's art is well known to all Virginians, and he is considered abroad as well as home as a genius with a most brilliant career opening to him. Mr. Powell will have for use during his recital one of the finest pianos ever built. It has been shipped from Boston by the Mason and Hamlin people, and will be used only for the recital and to be sent back Northward next Friday.

Dr. Wm. Russell Jones has removed his office to No. 9 West Gate Street.
